SUMMER READING LIST

ENGLEWOOD ON THE
PALISADES CHARTER
SCHOOL

June 2017

Dear Parents and Students,

The summer is a great time to enjoy reading. We have put together a suggested reading list for you to choose from to complete your summer reading assignment. Please choose 10 books to read and fill out your reading log as you finish each book. We have attached three book report forms for you to complete on the three books we would like you to read. Also, we have attached the rubric that we will be using to grade the book reports. We will be discussing these books in class in September:

- First Day Jitters by Julie Danneberg
- The Kissing Hand by Audrey Penn
- Officer Buckle and Gloria by Peggy Rathmann

Please have your child do as much of the writing as possible. We look forward to hearing about the books you read over the summer. So, make sure you remember to bring in your reading log and book reports on the first day of school.

Have a happy and safe summer!

Sincerely,
The Kindergarten Teachers

The following is the rubric that will be used by the Kindergarten teachers to grade the summer reading book reports.

Encouraging Summer Reading

Literacy is the single most important skill that your child needs to be successful in school. The following list includes ideas of ways that you can help your child discover the great adventures of reading!

- Establish a time for reading each day. Ask your child about what he or she is reading. Try to relate the material to an event that is happening this summer or to another book or story.
- Let your child see you reading for enjoyment. Talk about the great things that you discover when you read.
- Create a summer reading list. Choose books from the reading list (pages ix-x) or head to the library and explore the shelves. A general rule for selecting books at the appropriate reading level is to choose a page and ask your child to read it aloud. If he or she does not know more than five words on the page, the book may be too difficult.
- Read newspaper and magazine articles, recipes, menus, maps, and street signs on a daily basis to show your child the importance of reading.
- Find books that relate to your child's experiences. For example, if you are going camping, find a book about camping. This will help your child develop new interests.
- Visit the library each week. Let your child choose his or her own books, but do not hesitate to ask your librarian for suggestions. Often, librarians can recommend books based on what your child enjoyed in the past.
- Make up stories. This is especially fun to do in the car, on camping trips, or while waiting at the airport. Encourage your child to tell a story with a beginning, a middle, and an end. Or, have your child start a story and let other family members build on it.
- Encourage your child to join a summer reading club at the library or a local bookstore. Your child may enjoy talking to other children about the books that he or she has read.
